2021 ANNUAL REPORT

FROM OUR CEO

Dear Community,

Asalamu Alaykum wa Rahmatullah. Peace be Upon You.

As the newly appointed CEO of Penny Appeal USA, it's my honor and privilege to join in the work that each of you has made possible. From staff and board members, to volunteers, to donors, Penny Appeal USA has been able to make its impact over the past seven years because of the dedication of tens of thousands of hearts, hands, and voices coming together under a shared vision: an end to cyclical poverty. To date, Penny Appeal USA has changed the lives of over a million people around the world for the better, and as we look ahead we're energized by the prospect of achieving even more.

The past year has been a tumultuous one. The pandemic we had all hoped would be receding instead continued to ravage the globe, hitting poorer, already economically precarious countries the hardest. Covid has claimed almost ten million lives around the world – parents, children, caregivers, breadwinners, teachers, physicians – including nearly one million here at home, and as of this writing the end is still far off. At the same time, the impact of the climate crisis has caused stronger and more frequent natural disasters such as tsunamis, flooding, and draught, and we're only beginning to appreciate the extent to which environmental upheaval is going to become a fact of life. Once again, these effects are not felt equally, as resource-scarce countries are least equipped to prepare for or respond to such disasters. It can become too easy to slip into helplessness, to simply shut down in the face of the enormity of the need around us.

However, in the face of so many challenges, we've been inspired by the work that your support has enabled. We've seen families in Pakistan and India carrying their loved ones, sick with Covid, for miles to Penny Appeal clinics for life-saving care. We've received letters from children orphaned at birth who have received compassionate, loving care thanks to your sponsorship. We've heard stories from women coming to our Domestic Violence shelter in North Carolina who had nowhere else to turn. We've felt the warmth in the eyes of a widowed mother who can provide food for her family during Ramadan thanks to your Zakat. In each case, Penny Appeal USA has delivered authentic, meaningful support that's responsive to the needs of those whom we serve, grounded in our values of empathy and compassion. And each one of our donors and volunteers has made that support possible – you are the heroes of the Penny Appeal story.

As we move into the coming year, there's never been a more exciting time in the Muslim philanthropic space. Penny Appeal USA's programming will continue to center the vulnerable and needy, serving as a bridge between those with a desire to help and those in need of assistance. At the same time, we will retain our position at the vanguard of changemaking in the Muslim nonprofit sector, upholding the highest standards of accountability and transparency, and challenging ourselves to improve further each year in our community engagement, digital presence, domestic programming, and sector leadership. As confidence in institutions declines globally, it's more critical than ever that we maintain the trust that our community has placed in us, both for ourselves and on behalf of those whom we serve. We can't wait to see where the journey leads, and we're grateful to each one of you for sharing it with us.

Sincerely,

John Robbins, Ph.D

CEO, Penny Appeal USA

ARDEN II

Lack of access to clean water and water centers makes practicing good hygiene difficult. It also leaves communities vulnerable to disease and malnutrition. Parents in Senegal will often send their children to schools that don't have unsafe WASH facilities. We know how important education and clean water are in carving a route out of poverty. We're proud to be working together with eight schools to promote the health, safety, well-being, and hygiene of over 360 students. The focus is on improving the regulations through policy and advocacy. We're also helping to develop the technical and vocational skills of students aged 15 years and older.

The social services we offer help to support the physical, emotional, and mental health of survivors and their children. The much-needed counseling and support provided through shelter programs and individual counseling helps the healing process and allows residents to imagine a brighter future for themselves.

If you or someone you know needs help, we are here for you. Our hotline is open 24/7, call or text (704) 764-1773 to talk to our experienced counselor.
